

EXAMPLE TITLE

Subtitle would usually go here, but I don't have anything interesting to say

CHAPTER ONE

Visual weight yes hmm very pogchamp this box should be smaller because you're supposed to not care about it quite as much airplanes are cool ever seen an airplane? pretty cool ngl topgun is an okay movie but I would've preferred more planes, which is a weird thing to say considering it's a movie about planes but honestly too much people in my humble opinion anyway I think this is enough text? should be good enough :)

CHAPTER TWO

Realizing now that the um the yknow the size of the boxes/the darkness of the text box shouldn't exactly be based on the characters surrounding, but it should also have some input on the size of the original character just for safety and stuff so the chapter titles like on the left aren't categorized as lighter ust because there's a strip of text, so maybe something based on the vertical spacing? but that might get into problems with the title and the subtitle, so maybe checking the main box and then one box down to ensure that it's actually a paragraph and not just a title oop also now I'm thinking about it images should proooobably be blocked off or perhaps not? maybe take an average of those as well, just to make sure I'll probably use some sort of edge detection and then build the individual boxes honestly i dunno still working on it.

Titel 2 electric boogaloo

CHAPTER THREE At some point in life, i will have to come to the realizationt ehat strawberry icecream is truly superior to oreo icecream but today is not that day and I still enjoy oreo icecream but honestly, mint oreo is est and that's why it's good anyway fridges are basically the opposite to microwaves and that's pretty weird. but there isn't something that keeps it the same temperature with waves or whatever, kinda weird ngl. i eeed so much more text that i might switch to lorem ipsum delor who gives a shit haha
